ROBY ROBINSON.

Washington, February 24.—The United States government was asked by Panama today to use its good offices to avoid any bloodshed in Central America growing out of the alleged invasion of Panama by Costa Rican troops.

Action on instructions from President Porras, charge d'affaires Le Feuvre, of the Panama legation, informed the state department that what first advises describe as an influx of political refugees from Costa Rica to Panama was actually an armed invasion. Mr. Le Feuvre requested that the United States intercede with the Costa Rica minister here.

A message received by Mr. Le Feuvre from his government and communicated to Under-Secretary of State Davis, was to the effect that troops acting on instructions from the Costa Rican capital at San Jose, had occupied territory bordering on the Coto, Golfito and Colera rivers.

An informed mission, headed by General Manuel Quintero, a member of President Porras' cabinet, was said to have been dispatched from Panama to the threatened region by way of David, where civilian troops are being mobilized. The purpose of this expedition, the cable stated, was to regain sovereignty over the invaded territory.

OFFICIAL ADVICES NOT RECEIVED

Panama, February 24.—The Panamanian government has not received official advice regarding the reported occupation of Panamanian territory by Costa Rican forces, President Porras informed this evening. Lack of rapid communications from Coto, in the province of Chiriqui, where the invasion is reported, has prevented the receipt of news from that point and likewise from the small armed expedition which the Panama government despatched for the purpose of investigation and possible defense.

CLAIMS TERRITORY.

Thomas Jacome, Costa Rican consul, this afternoon gave out a dispatch from the Costa Rican foreign office answering an inquiry relative to the occupation reports. The dispatch says:

"The Costa Rican government has not invaded territory. It has sent forces and authorities to territories considered its undisputed dominion."

SEES CAUSE OF WAR.

The Diario Nacional, the government organ, declares that the proceeding is a "cause bell and an attack against our sovereignty, which it is necessary to repel by force."

Relative to the status of the territory involved, President Porras said it was the subject of two conflicting arbitration decisions, one favoring Panama and the other Costa Rica. Panama has been holding Coto under the first decision, refusing to accept the second decision.

A demonstration has taken place here against the action of Costa Rica, and loyal parades have been held in the main streets.

DORSEY TO SPEAK IN TECH CAMPAIGN TO BOOST GEORGIA

Thomasville, Ga., February 24.—(Special)—Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, President Matheson, of the Georgia Tech, and Victor Allen, of Atlanta, are expected to reach Thomasville tomorrow morning, in the interest of the Greater Georgia campaign being made by Georgia Tech.

The visitors will arrive on the Coast Line train from Valdosta, and will speak at the Commercial Association at 11 o'clock. The party is being brought about Georgia in the interest of this campaign.

Of City Bond Commission
Given in Detail by Inman

The powers of the bond commission and the functions which it will possess in the expenditure of the proceeds from the $8,850,000 bond issue for Atlanta's betterment are taken up in a statement issued Thursday evening by Frank M. Inman, chairman of the bond campaign committee.

The statement follows:

"Opponents of the bond issue make the assertion that the bond commission 'has no authority except a gentleman's agreement.'

"They want a bond commission, they say, to spend the bond money. They make no objection to the per-

CONFEREES AGREE ON FINAL DETAILS OF FORDNEY BILL

Emergency Tariff Measure Is Finally Smoothed Out and Returned to House for Final Passage.

EARLY CONSIDERATION OF BILL EXPECTED

Two Cents Per Pound Tariff Placed on Sugar, Which Was the Chief Bone of Contention.

Washington, February 24.—Differences in the Fordney emergency tariff bill as it passed the house and senate were smoothed out today by conference committees of the two branches of congress and the battle scarred measure was sent back to the house for final action.

Although the bill has a parliamentary right to consideration tomorrow it was deemed unlikely that it would be called up before Saturday. Some of its antagonistic importers, however, may compel earlier consideration in an effort to hasten its arrival at the white house and enable an attempt to override the president's veto if such is necessary.

As the bill went back to the house, it carried a flat rate of two cents a pound tariff on the ordinary house brand of sugar. The senate amendment, which was considerably higher, was slashed to pieces.

In the threatened deadlock of the conference and a new rate in substitution for the present tariff on sugar was accepted by both delegations. The proposed tariff, therefore, amounts to a doubling of the import duties on sugars of all grades, making Cuban sugar pay a duty of $1.60 per hundred pounds, and a similar rate on molasses and kindred sugar products.

NO TARIFF ON HIDES.

While agreeing to the tariff on sugar, the house conferees stood pat on a refusal to permit a tariff on hides and leather products. They likewise forced a reduction of 50 cents per pound from the rate fixed in the senate amendment on certain classes of tobacco. The senate rate of 50 cents per pound on cherries was compromised.

Some differences of the provision originally in the bill, for duty on rice compelled a rewriting of that item with a flat rate of 1 cent per pound on all exempt cleaned rice and rice used for the manufacture of canned foods.

There was speculation tonight whether the house would concur in the agreement of its conference committee on the sugar duty. Three attempts were made, it was recalled, to put sugar in the list when the bill was put up in the house and all were voted down overwhelmingly.

Several members of the conference committee said privately

'PAR COLLECTION' HEARING IS URGED

U. S. Solicitor General Asks Supreme Court to Advance Case—Attorney Smith Makes Reply.

Washington, February 24.—Solicitor-General Frierson joined today with counsel for the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta in urging the supreme court to advance for early hearing the "par collection" case.

The suit was brought initially by fourteen Georgia banks which sought an injunction restraining federal reserve banks and officials from complying with orders of the federal reserve board requiring collections of bank checks throughout the United States at par.

"The question is one of very great public interest and should be promptly determined," Mr. Frierson told the court. "One of the principal objects of the acts of congress under which the federal reserve banks were established is to secure the payment of checks throughout the United States at par. The right which appellant banks assert to refuse to pay such checks, however, presented at par, would seriously interfere with the carrying out of this plan."

"Under the system which the board is establishing, the total cost of clearances is borne by the federal reserve banks. When this is fully put into effect it will save the general public a large amount of money which was formerly paid in exchange or charges for remittance."

During 1919, the petition continued, federal reserve banks handled $74,000,000 in gross business, at a cost of only $250,000, while under the new system of clearances the same amount "would have cost the public $74,000,000."

Answer is Filed.

Answer to the motion to advance this case was filed with the supreme court by Alex W. Smith, counsel for the Country Bankers Association of Georgia, which is the organization directing the case for the appellant banks. Mr. Smith is now in Washington.

In his reply he states that to

Harding Is Asked For Cabinet Place By Organized Labor

STATE FINANCES BEST IN UNION, SAYS HARDWICK

Quotes Figures to Show That Georgia Is in Better Condition Than Any Other State.

TEMPORARILY FACED BY MONEY STRINGENCY

Governor-Elect Looks for Early Return to Normal Conditions in Business.

"Finances of Georgia, in the larger sense, are sounder than those of any state in the union, bar none," said Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick, in an address delivered Thursday at the Capital City club before the Atlanta Real Estate board. Following this statement Mr. Hardwick compared the $6,000,000 bonded indebtedness of Georgia to the obligations of other states, and referred to the $15,000,000 revenue-producing state property, the Western and Atlantic railroad road, as a backing that served to emphasize the solvency of this community.

FAVORS INCOME TAX.

He also committed himself in favor of the income tax, but said that the taxing of incomes was more of a federal function than of the state. He declared that should it ever become absolutely necessary for the state to tax incomes he would insist upon the principle of levying such taxes in greater proportion against "invisible" property rather than placing the burden upon incomes derived from realty and from industries that employ workers and furnish opportunities for the laboring man.

We have no desire to name any special person for this office, but we respectfully request all citizens of our country that the man to be appointed to represent us in your city shall be a recognized representative of organized labor, one who is recognized as a real spokesman of the working people of our country, and who understands the toilers, one who has lived, worked and counseled with them.

RAIL STRIKE BEGINS IN MEXICO TODAY

National Director Declares He Has Enough Strikebreakers to Keep Traffic Moving.

Mexico City, February 24.—A strike on all the government controlled railroads has been called for tomorrow morning by the members of the Confederation of Railroad Workers. The confederation claims a membership in excess of 100,000.

Francisco Perez, the national director of railroads, asserts that he has sufficient strikebreakers to keep traffic moving.

Washington, February 24.—The general strike on the Mexican National railroad, which official dispatches today said was set for tomorrow midnight, will, in the opinion of Mexican observers here, furnish the first big test for the Obregon government. Indications were that the strike would be "short and sharp," stated unofficially, that President Obregon and his administration would meet the test successfully.

The Mexican government was advised of the impending strike in a dispatch received today by the department of commerce from Randolph Robertson, American consul in Mexico City. Mr. Robertson said the strike was expected to be of short duration.

Press dispatches from Mexico City stating that more than 100,000 men had applied for jobs as strikebreakers were considered by Mexican observers here as tending to support the expectation that the strike would be "short and sharp." The demands of the employees of the government controlled lines included increased pay and changes in hours and working conditions.

Present Stringency.

Mr. Hardwick then called attention to the fact that the commonwealth seems to be temporarily faced with a financial stringency. He said that the money with which to pay teachers and old soldiers and other state obligations should have been raised by the legislature making such appropriations.

"I shall see to it that all unnecessary expenditures are cut to the bone, and that all unnecessary officials and commissions are lopped off," he said.

He declared that the state has too

JAP RULE OF YAP BASIS OF PROTEST IN AMERICAN NOTE

Text of American Note Says This Country Cannot Be Bound by Such Mandate Awards.

AMERICAN APPROVAL MUST BE OBTAINED

Plans Are Completed at Labor Conference for Fight Against "Open Shop" Movement.

Washington, February 24.—Organized labor called upon President-elect Harding today to appoint to his cabinet as secretary of labor a "recognized representative of organized labor," and "a real spokesman of the working people of our country and who understands the toilers."

The request, made in the form of a telegram to the president-elect at St. Augustine, Fla., was declared by labor leaders to be practically an endorsement of the type of man or James Duncan, of Quincy, Mass., a vice president and member of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, whom they regard as the one candidate who is a "recognized representative of organized labor."

Reports that James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, had been selected by Mr. Hardwick as his labor secretary were not referred to in the message which was signed by President Gompers, the members of the executive council, and representatives of the national and international unions affiliated in the American Federation of Labor, and the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods.

Reported that James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, had been selected by Mr. Hardwick as his labor secretary were not referred to in the message which was signed by President Gompers, the members of the executive council, and representatives of the national and international unions affiliated in the American Federation of Labor, and the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods.

It was reiterated at the state department that the note is an effort to set clearly before the European powers the view of this government in order that the new administration may act freely and without embarrassment in the protection of American interests. It is desired to forestall any action the league council, now sitting, may take toward ratifying the British mandate in Mesopotamia, or other mandates without consulting America.

Text of Message.

"In view of the fact that you have under consideration for appointment as secretary of labor several candidates," said the message, "and because labor is deeply interested in who the individual will be in the head of the department of labor, the representatives of the national and international unions affiliated in the American Federation of Labor, and the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods, respectfully ask you to appoint as a member of the cabinet to be secretary of labor a member of organized labor; one who is recognized as a real spokesman of the working people of our country, and who understands the toilers; one who has lived, worked and counseled with them.

"We have no desire to name any special person for this office, but we respectfully request all citizens of our country that the man to be appointed to represent us in your city shall be a recognized representative of organized labor, one who is recognized as a real spokesman of the working people of our country, and who understands the toilers; one who has lived, worked and counseled with them.

"The United States has never given its consent to the inclusion of the Island of Yap in any proposed mandate to Japan," wrote Colby, "but on the other hand, at the time of the discussion of a mandate covering the former German islands in the Pacific north of the equator, and in the course of said discussion President Wilson, acting on behalf of this government, was particular to stipulate that the question of the disposition of the Island of Yap should be reserved for future consideration.

"This government in notes addressed to the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan has set forth at length its contention that Yap had in fact been excepted from this proposed mandate and should not be included therein."

Protest Was Made.

Colby stated that protest was made when the "council of four" on May 7, 1919, included the Island of Yap in the proposed mandate, at which time a final agreement on the disposition of the former German islands had not been reached. The point is made that the American government had thus clearly made known its position before the mandate to Japan was formally ratified by the league council at its meeting in Geneva December 17.

"As one of the principal allied and associated powers, the United States has an equal concern and an inseparable interest with the other principal allied and associated powers in the overseas possessions of Germany, and concededly an equal voice in their disposition, which it is respectfully submitted cannot be undertaken or effectuated without its assent," the note continued.

Mr. Arkwright added that in his belief, certain radical leaders were stirring up strife against the company, and that half of the people did not understand the true state of affairs.

Reports Autogenism.

"If the people refuse to buy gas under the increased rates, all I can say is that I am sorry, but it is their right to say what they think, and to use gas or not according to their wishes. The gas company will continue to manufacture enough of the product to meet their needs when they decide to become our patrons again, which I think will be soon."

He believed that the antagonism of the people against the company would subside as soon as the true condition of the cost of manufacturing gas could be understood.

Issue Pending.

A meeting of fifty Jefferson Park citizens Thursday night at the Moreland Avenue school assembled to protest the gas increase, voted to demand that the railroad commission reduce car fare on Atlanta trolleys to 5 cents, and to request a reconsideration of the telephone

ALLEGED CAR ROBBER FOUND IN STATE PEN

Cordele, Ga., February 24.—(Special) —After having been on the trail of Charles W. Wren, alleged car robber for more than two years, Special Agent L. M. Sumner, of the Seaboard Air Line railroad, has succeeded in getting him now in the state penitentiary, where he will serve another sentence for which he was sent up from another county.

Wren, who was captured several years ago, was charged with having robbed freight cars in the Cordele yards. In the broad open daylight, he was said to have stolen hundreds of dollars' worth of goods.

Verdict of Guilty In Case of Alleged Assault Attempt

Columbus, Ga., February 24.—(Special) —A jury in Muscogee superior court this afternoon convicted Walter McClellan, a young white man of the city of Columbus, of assault. McClellan was given a sentence of from five to ten years in the penitentiary. The case was of a sensational nature.

The defendant, young man of this city, was charged with having carried an eighteen year old girl of Atlanta out of the city of Columbus without her consent.

The couple went to the theater, the girl testified, and McClellan later suggested they go home. The girl said she saw that she noticed the car had been diverted from the exact route, and proceeded into the country, despite her protest.

When they left the car, according to the testimony, at a point north of Columbus, she alleged that he started to assault her. She resisted desperately, and in the struggle, her clothing was torn from her. She says that she struck the young man in the head with her shoe, partially stunning him.

When another car came into sight, it was testified, the girl was still being assaulted, having on only her stockings.

People in the car provided clothing for her temporary use.

The case was strongly contested, and the defendant stoutly denied his guilt.

Motion for a new trial was made and denied, and on April 16, before Judge Monroe, McClellan being released on $12,500 bail. He admitted the attempt, but declared it was the result of his personal endeavor to make the girl marry him, as he had tried to do for years.

Richard C. Smith, of Atlanta, a former railroad rates deputy collector, indicted in connection with the same case, and charged with having driven the couple that night in the taxicab, is to be tried next week.

NEGRO IS CHARGED WITH WRECKING PASSENGER TRAIN

Macon, Ga., February 24.—(Special) —A Negro was charged with southbound Southern railway train No. 9 at Bonair on the night of February 16, in a spirit of revenge. The Negro, a 20-year-old, Dumas, has been arrested here two weeks ago. Dumas was arrested for riding a freight train. He claimed he had planned to break into the car after getting out of the trouble, it is alleged to have sought to get even by wrecking the passenger train. No one was seriously hurt in the derailment he is said to have caused.

RUDGET RULES IRK REPUBLICAN HOUSESerious Row Threatens Over One-Committee System on Appropriation Legislation.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOWAY

Washington, February 24.—(Special) —The house republicans are on the eve of a serious row over budgetary legislation, and there is coincidentally a strong insurgency movement looking to a return to the old system of committee appropriations. The majority will meet in caucus next Monday evening, at which the basis for the establishment of a budget system will come up, and at which time the storm that has been gathering is expected to break.

It will be recalled that last year congress voted a national budget system, and the house voted to reform its procedure so that one large committee should replace nine different committees that formerly considered and reported the appropriation bills. President Wilson vetoed the budget bill because of a technicality.

Considered Necessary.

Both of these measures were considered as necessary to any sound budget reform, the one being essential to the successful operation of the other. The republicans purposed in submitting one executive budget, with any hope of securing a balanced budget, having the demands of one executive department overbalanced by the demands of all executive departments. If the budget should be divided up into nine or more appropriations bills to be considered by nine separate committees of the house.

The chairman of many of the important committees have never looked with favor upon a procedure that would give the members of their committees power over their members. They voted for the reform, it is true, but they did it grudgingly upon an almost universal demand.

Several times during the past two weeks, Mr. Goode, chairman of the committee, have been compelled to ask their colleagues to show the same consideration for the committee members they showed for the old committees.

BILL IS Formidable.

The drive is for the votes of the eighty new republican members of the house who will be here for the first time, and who are likely to be most zealous in their efforts to change the issue. While the leaders are confident that the insurgency bill will not succeed, they admit that it is formidable.

CASES AGAINST WATSON NOL PROSSSED BY COURT

Written Apology to Miss Wiley by Senator-Elect Ends Buford Incident.

Buford, Ga., February 24.—(Special) —Following a written apology from Senator-elect Thomas E. Watson to Miss S. M. Wiley for actions taken against her, both while he was in the arrest of Mr. Watson on the night of August 18, the four cases against the senator-elect have been dropped. The company presented a check for $112 to Judge L. Oakes, of the city court of Buford, to cover costs of a court action.

The charge against W. F. Miller, Mr. Watson's companion, who was alleged to have drawn a pistol during the disturbance in which Mr. Watson was involved, has also been nol prosessed. After his arrest at the hotel, Mr. Watson spent the night at the hotel.

The letter of apology of Mr. Watson followed negotiations leading to a compromise between Colonel William Simmons, of Lawrenceville, representing Mr. Watson, and W. Rowe and others, acting for Miss Wiley.

Following is the written apology received by Miss Wiley from Mr. Watson:

"Dear Miss Wiley: I am recently informed that you do not recall my having apologized to you on the morning of August 19, 1920, for the unfortunate and regrettable accident which occurred on the previous night, to which I was a party.

"You may possibly be correct in your recollection. I have no doubt the impression that I made all apology to you for what I said and did upon that occasion that a general would have to do, but be as that as it may, I have no hesitation about again expressing my sincere regret for any words or conduct that could be construed as disrespectful or otherwise, to assure you that I regard you as a lady and entitled to that consideration which every gentleman would be willing to give you. You were kind, courteous and obliging to me when I arrived at your hotel, and did what you could for me. Your manner of attention being such as I needed in my sick, nervous and feeble condition from the burden of traveling extensively and an arduous campaign during a hot summer, and I feel grateful for all you did for me.

"Assume you my high personal regards. I am yours very respectfully, Thomas E. Watson."

Miss Wiley's statement follows:

"In view of the full and complete apology, I consent that all prosecution that has grown out of Mr. Watson's conduct on the night of August 18, 1920, may be settled upon his payment of all costs of prosecution, and the cases not prosessed. This February 24." —R. M. WILEY."

VIOLENT DEATHS NUMEROUS IN CITY DURING PAST YEAR

Murder, accident, suicide and other deaths by violence constitute eight of the causes of mortality in Atlanta during the year 1920, according to figures given out by the city registrar's office Thursday. Out of 1,000 deaths in the year 1920, 252 were due to violence, 167 whites dying by violence as against 131 negroes.

An analysis of the deaths from violence during the year follows:

DATES FOR 15 FAIRS IN GEORGIA ARE SET

Eugene Baker Elected President of Georgia Fairs Association.

The dates of fifteen fairs in this state were settled upon at the closing session of the ninth annual meeting of the Georgia Fairs Association held at the Piedmont Hotel Thursday. Eugene Baker, of Gainesville, was elected president of the association at this meeting. The fair managers opened their session of Wednesday.

Jones was killed and his father, the latter city marshal, was wounded. A range of shot was followed their entry into a pool hall operated by Clarence Lacotts. Lacotts was wounded by one of the bullets, while Mrs. Brookhart, who had gone to the pool hall, dropped dead of heart failure when the shooting began.

Jones and his son are said to have been astir by a suppressed noise emanating from the Lacotts building.

Jones was shot and killed in another shooting affray in the same locality.

Clogged Blood

If your blood is in bad shape it shows up in your looks and feelings. If you feel sick and weak, if your limbs are tired, if your color is poor, if your lips are red, eyes wide open and bright, you good feelings come.

In common sense will tell you that this blood makes you look lifeless. You lower your vitality, you have little power to resist disease germs. Men, women and children with rich red blood are able to fight off the germs which bring severe illness.

When you feel run down and weak, with no appetite nor ambition, take Pepto-Mangan for a tonic. It is a great blood building tonic. You should begin to feel better within a few days.

Pepto-Mangan is in tablet form. Take either kind you prefer, because they have the same medicinal value.

EQUITABLE SHOWS GAIN

Paid in 1920, $72,683,550.
Assets Now $627,141,737.

The sixty-first annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States gives evidence of the company's continued progress. Premiums written in 1920 totalled $52,559,921, and on December 31 the outstanding insurance passed the $2,656,500,000 mark. The total assets of the company shown in the total assets, including a net increase of $24,000,000 in mortgage loans. Over $72,683,000 was paid to policyholders in dividends, annuities, etc., during the year. The mortality rate remained low in view of the growth of the company. The average policy issued was $3,440, as against $3,456 five years ago, showing an increase of $16 in the cost of life insurance.

Major D. A. McDufie, in announcing that the city administration will cut off the gas at the city limits at the expiration of a 30-day period, declared that East Point will establish its own gas plant if Atlanta does not furnish gas at much lower rates. Gas consumers in East Point have been put on notice of the step to be taken by the city authorities.

The gas company can quit collecting the gas down to a fair figure," Mayor McDufie declared. "Our citizens are anxious to have the gas cut off as soon as they can equip their kitchens with stoves."

The new rate for East Point is $2 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Hab Legal Power.

Guy Parker, city attorney of East Point, stated that the city has the legal power to cut off the gas.

If Atlanta is going to have its own plant, East Point will arrange to buy gas from Atlanta.

Captain Amos Baker, well-known Atlanta citizen who for 22 years was a deputy in the Fulton county tax collector's office, was found dead in bed early this morning at his home, 298 Woodward avenue.

Captain Baker had been in poor health for the past 15 years but his condition had never been considered critical and his sudden death was a shock to his many friends throughout the city.

He was reported to have been a member of the Third Georgia Regiment.

Captain Baker was 57 years old and had lived in Atlanta all of his life. He had always taken an active part in civic affairs. He gained popularity during the days of Henry Grady and Joel Chandler Harris. He was prominent in fraternal circles, belonged to the Odd Fellows, Red Men and Elks, and was a leading member of the Odd Fellows of Atlanta for many years.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Middle Eason, of Fayetteville, and three sons, John W. Baker, George W. Baker and A. H. Baker.

rate case, in addition to endorsing resolutions adopted at several previous indignation meetings in other cities.

W. M. Hairston, president of the Edgewood Progressive club, the organization in which the indignation campaign originated, presided at the meeting. The speakers attacking the new rate were Attorney L. L. Crawford, who introduced the resolution; Dr. L. N. Huff, Ed S. Rogers, Mrs. Nell Austin, W. T. Regland, R. C. Meeks and others.

A committee was appointed to meet with committees from other community meetings to make arrangements for the central indignation meeting to be held at the Baptist Tabernacle on Thursday night, March 10.

Circulate Petition.

The circulation of a petition to the railroad commission, requesting that the gas rate case be reopened, was begun at a meeting of 65 West End women held Thursday night at the residence of Mrs. Banks White, of 201 Gordon street. The gathering also went on record as endorsing resolutions adopted previously by other indignation meetings demanding the removal of the three commissioners who voted for the increase.

Commissioners voting for the increase were asked to resign, and the commission abolished; others want the commissioners voting for the increase removed.

One of the speakers produced one piece of evidence produced at any of the meetings to show that the commissioners were not popular.

The more fact that all dislike paying increased rates for gas, protestations against the new rate were made.

It is not known what it costs to make gas.

Undoubtedly, the commissioners voting for the increased rate knew at the time that it would be very unpopular among people and would bring down their terms of office.

Wednesday night, the members of the three commissioners who voted for the increase were asked to resign, and the commission abolished.

Regardless of consequences, I am not afraid to trust men that care for the welfare of our community.

RIVAL DELEGATIONS SEEK TRAIN SERVICE

Griffin and Fayetteville Contend for the Routing of Southern Trains.

Keen competition was evidenced Thursday morning before the Georgia railroad commission in a contest between Griffin and Fayetteville for restoration of train service between Atlanta and Columbus. Contentions were made for the routing of the restored schedule through each of the cities which are located on different lines of the Southern Railway.

Before the world war the Southern railway operated a double daily train between Atlanta and Columbus via Griffin, and when war conditions demanded changing the schedule, the train was run via Fayetteville. That gave birth to a double daily service in place of the single service it has had to enjoy prior to that time.

Leffler said to the Fayetteville route is said to be shorter. The Griffin representatives claim that the Southern promised restoration of the Atlanta service via Atlanta city as soon as conditions warranted. Consequently, a petition from the Spalding county city was presented to the railroad commission asking that the railroads be required to put the old schedule into effect again. This petition was filed with the commission several weeks ago and has been held over until the case brought delegations both from Griffin and Fayetteville.

Claims of Rivals.

The Fayetteville delegation claimed that to take a train from the roundabout Columbus to Atlanta city would reduce service on that line by one half, and the fact that the Fayetteville route is shorter and more direct.

A statement was made by Vice President R. B. Pegram of the Southern railway, in which the official said that the Atlanta route via Fayetteville was not paying expenses, and he declared further that it was his opinion that the operation of the double daily train via the Griffin route would increase the loss.

Griffin was represented before the board by S. B. French, president of the commission. W. H. Beck, president of the board of trade; W. B. Royster, secretary of the board; W. C. Brown, J. P. Nichols, H. C. Cronch, H. H. Bass, E. H. Grifffin and others.

Fayetteville was represented by W. C. and D. Blashak, C. R. Redwine, W. B. Hollingsworth, E. V. Jones, R. E. L. Fife, Charles G. Davis and others.

REDUCTION IN PAY FOR STEEL WORKERS

Pittsburg, February 24.—A reduction approximating 20 per cent in the pay of all laborers of the Jones and Laughlin Steel company will be effective March 1, it was announced yesterday. The wage rate of the employees of the double daily train via the Griffin route would increase the loss.

Griffin was represented before the board by S. B. French, president of the commission. W. H. Beck, president of the board of trade; W. B. Royster, secretary of the board; W. C. Brown, J. P. Nichols, H. C. Cronch, H. H. Bass, E. H. Grifffin and others.

Fayetteville was represented by W. C. and D. Blashak, C. R. Redwine, W. B. Hollingsworth, E. V. Jones, R. E. L. Fife, Charles G. Davis and others.

of the local affairs of any city in the state. They propose a bond commission entirely out of public opinion and entirely uncontrollable by the public's wishes regarding the disposition of the public's money. They propose a bond commission which would be a law unto itself.

"Of course, the public would object to such a commission, and rightly so. If such a commission should now be created, except the proceeds of the pending bond issue, some of the gentlemen now complaining because the present commission is not doing its work, might make the same complaint if a bond commission which would be a law unto itself.

closed to such a commission, and rightly so. If such a commission should now be created, except the proceeds of the pending bond issue, some of the gentlemen now complaining because the present commission is not doing its work, might make the same complaint if a bond commission which would be a law unto itself.

"If everything 'wrong' with the public's money is to be remedied, then the bond commission must be created, and the public's money must be given to the bond commission, and that is what the bond commission will perform their work under double surveillance. They accept appointment with great understanding. That commission is of the highest importance and their trust is sacred.

Reiterates Request.

The note reiterated the request that the draft mandate forms, intended to be submitted to the league, be communicated to this government for its consideration before submission to the council of the league, in order that the council might thus have before it an expression of the opinion of the government.

The Jones and Laughlin company, one of the largest independent steel companies, employs in normal times about 50,000 men. The note of the draft mandate states that the men will be paid 40 cents an hour, the present rate being 46 cents an hour. About 49 per cent of the men employed in a steel mill are classified as laborers.

Another Witness Says Hatfield Told Him of Killings Albert Felts.

Williamson, W. Va., February 24.—In the Matewan trial here today testimony relating to the industrial controversy between coal operators and the miners' union in Mingo county, where a strike was called last July, was heard. R. R. Leffler, a miner, testified that he had received several anonymous letters, telling him to get out of the region "or we will get you." The letters in question were presented in evidence, but upon decision of the court, they were made applicable to only Sid Hatfield, a defendant.

Leffler refused to join the union in the early part of 1

Little, Mrs. Phoebe Engle and Miss Elizabeth McMillian.

The rooms were bright with many glowing daffodils and jonquils.

"The prize for top score was an embroidered towel. The consolation prize was a dainty French dormitory gown of honor, which contained a beautiful French powder box.

After an interesting game, tea was served at a table adorned with central streamers of yellow and white, and the room was filled with bouquets and narcissi and wild yellow jasmine surrounded my smaller flowers, with some fine lilies and a bra holding unshaded candles. The mints and bonbons were delicious.

The honored and guests of honor were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Richard Simms.

Mrs. Montgomery was gowned in a handsome model of blue Canton crepe.

Mrs. Wear wore a heavily headed blue tricotine, and her hat was of pony straw.

Children's Home Society Auxiliary Is Organized

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Calvert in Decatur Hill was thrown open on Wednesday afternoon to a meeting of representative women of Atlanta, who organized an auxiliary to the Georgia Children's Home society.

The meeting was a very significant one, since it is the nucleus upon which a state-wide organization is to be formed and coming as it did, has been well received.

The board of directors are making an appeal for a fund of $40,000 for the newly purchased home, assure the co-operation of the women of Georgia in everything for the welfare of the home.

Robert H. Jones, Jr., spoke forcefully in behalf of the inmates of the home and their need of the care of children.

He pointed out the fact that the newly purchased property must be made a real home, and that the board of directors deemed it the ablest and most capable to do this.

Miss Annie Thornton, tea at the Atlanta Woman's Club this morning, assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests.

Those present were Mrs. Sam Fincher, Mrs. H. Johnson, Mrs. Grace Lee Townsend, Miss Ethel Stephens Lansing, Miss Ethel Curry, Miss Harriet Small, Miss Perry, Miss Shields, Mrs. Benjamin Elias, Mrs. Nellie Dugdale, Mrs. E. Rogers Stringfellow, Mrs. L. E. Rogers, Miss Little Peoples, Miss Nathalie Hammond, Miss Evelyn Stephens, Miss Mary Lee, Mrs. C. C. Clegg, Sheldon Jr., J. Clarendon McClure, Frank Cundell, Thomas Hoffman, Wilfred Patterson, Browning, John W. Allen, W. Wayne, Paul Durban and others, besides a chorus in Andre Chenier, a chorus in Andre and a chorus and harp solo in Mrs. Peacock.

Each opera will be presented by a different reader, thus giving the charm of variety.

Charming Costumes Seen at Rotary Fashion Show

Above are seen some of the striking gowns and costumes worn by employees of the J. P. Allen company at the Fashion show staged under the direction of J. C. LaViere, of the Allen company, before the Rotary club at its annual George Washington dinner party Tuesday night.

The annual George Washington dinner party of the Rotary club held Tuesday night was featured by a fashion show staged under the direction of J. C. LaViere, of the J. P. Allen company. All of the models were employees of the Allen company and the Rotarians and their wives were agreed that it was the most complete display of fashions on living models ever seen in Atlanta.

"Jim" Allen, as he is called in Rotary circles, was chairman of the committee on arrangements, and to him goes the credit for Rotary's best annual party.

period, fashioned of gray chiffon taffetas, with very full skirt on which was appliqued French roses. The tight-fitting blouse, draped from the shoulders, and on the left side was a wreath of French roses. Her hat was of lavender taffetas, in a mushroom shape, trimmed with French rosebuds, and three long loops and ends of lavender taffeta ribbon which she had pinned to her hand she carried an old-fashioned vanity bag of lavender taffetas, trimmed with rosebuds and gold trimmings, while completing the Colonial period were wristlets of black velvet ribbons.

Miss Hannah McMichael, in a gray charmeuse beach costume, introducing hand embroidery, wore a tam of the same material finished with silk tassels. In the center Miss Anna Andrews' evening costume was of green satin, and her hat was a flaring model of green satin to match the suit. Miss Irene Long wore a bathing suit of soft taffetas which shone from American Beauty to lingerie shade. A mass of lace-edged panels finished the skirt and these same panels trimmed the hat. Their satin slippers and silk socks completed the costume.

Miss Lucile Steele, at the extreme right, wore the French evening gown of black sequins trimmed in white pearl and rhinestone flower design.

350 Spring Suits at Special Prices

There Are Five Different Groups and None of Them Is Marked Over $50

THIS IS for the woman who has made up her mind that $50—or less—is all that she is going to pay for her new suit this spring. She is expecting more for her suit money this spring than she was able to get last fall or last spring, or at any time during the last two or three years. She has a right to expect it—she's going to get more! For the cost of producing suits is lower today, much lower, than it has been.

Today we shall present 350 specially priced suits—all under $50—for the first time. We picked these suits with the utmost care. We bought them in quantities. We bought them at extremely close figures. And we are offering them at extremely close margins—at special prices. The savings on them are pronounced. Here are the various groups:

Suits, $27.95

Fifty suits of Scotch tweeds and fancy mixtures in manish tuck and pleated back styles. These have narrow belts of self material and patch pockets on jacket and skirt. Some in tan, brown, green, gray and mixtures. Lined with good silk.

Suits, $29.95

One hundred suits of good all-wool tricotine in a variety of flare back, belted, straight line and plain tailored styles showing silk thread stitching, silk braid trimming and embroidery. Come in navy and black. Silk lined jackets.

Suits, $34.95

Seventy-five suits of tricotine and Poiret twill in semi-tailored, rippled jacket, straight line, box and belted styles. To be had in navy and black. Show fancy silk thread stitching, beads and embroidery. Lined with satin and pussy willow taffeta.

Suits, $39.95

Fifty "stout" size suits in semi-tailored and belted styles. These were designed ESPECIALLY to be becoming to women who are of large build. Tailored from a good quality of all-wool tricotine; navy and black. Sizes are 40½ to 52½.

Suits, $46.95

One hundred springs suits of fine quality all-wool tricotine in plain and novelty styles showing silk embroidery, silk braid trimming and bead work. They are to be had in navy and black only. Many are belted. The jackets are silk lined.

A QUESTION OF TAXES.

Assuming that every Atlanta voter is not only familiar with the utter and absolute inadequacy of the city's public facilities, but also recognizes the positive necessity for the expenditure of, at the very least, a sum of money equal to that contemplated in the proposed $8,850,000 municipal bond issue to bring those facilities up to the standard of requirements, the question before him, then, is one of tax rates.

In other words, it is for the voter to decide whether it is more advantageous to him—as a taxpayer, or as a renter of taxed property—for this necessary money to be obtained by direct and insuf-fably burdensome taxation, or by the bonding method, by which the cost would not spread over a long period of years and met gradually and evenly and by a tax rate increase so moderate as scarcely to be felt.

Every well-informed citizen of Atlanta knows, as stated by the bond campaign committee in a formal appeal to the public through the press of the city—

"That we have got to have more and better schools; we have got to keep our waterworks system up to the needs of a growing city; we have got to protect the public health by extending the sewers, en-danging the sewer purification plants and eradicating surface closests; we have got to relieve the traffic congestion."

As the committee's statement further points out, "no man or woman has questioned or can question the absolute necessity for all these improvements. Even the few who are fighting the bonds do not question the fact that all of these things have got to be done."

"These improvements have got to be made, and have got to be paid for," says the committee—

"and they will be made and will be paid for, either by taxation or by bonds; and the people now are given the choice, which is their right, of paying for them in a long term of years, by moderate taxation or paying for them in a short term of years by increased taxation."

The tax rate in Atlanta used to be $1.50 on the $100; and the worst mistake this city ever made was the reduction of that rate to $1.25, which is the rate at this time.

If the bonding proposal is ratified at the polls—and a fund of $8,850,000 is thus made available for public improvements—it will be necessary simply to restore the tax rate to the former status, from which it never should have been changed.

The alternative is a tax rate that will be excessive and burdensome
—$1.70 on the $100 at the very minimum.

WORLD WAR STANDARDS.

Announcement from Washington that the colors of the 321st field artillery, a regiment of the Eighty-second division of the American expeditionary forces in the world war, is to be delivered to the state of Georgia is especially gratifying in that it indicates a most commendable policy on the part of the war department, and one which it is to be hoped the new administration will follow.

On account of the wide distribution of personnel, there has been considerable controversy over the matter of the "home" of the various army units participating in the war; but, regardless of the fact that many states were represented in the Eighty-second, that division is generally conceded to be Georgia's. It was organized and trained at Camp Gordon, officered mainly by Georgia men, and went from Georgia to the French front.

Now that the war is a memory—

a sacred memory to thousands in every state—an undoubtedly wholesome and patriotic effect would result if steps were taken to determine the logical state-possessor of each regiment standard and make the distribution of the various colors accordingly.

There is no question but that the 321st field artillery standard belongs to Georgia; and the same is true of the colors of each of the other regiments of that division.

And it would be good thing for Georgia officially to request of the government that each regimental standard of the Eighty-second be turned over to the state and placed in the state capitol, there to be preserved as an heirloom, and as a memento of Georgia's glorious participation in the world war, for future generations.

FIGHTING THE BUDGET.

In the warning that has been sounded against an alleged movement directed in opposition to putting the United States government on a budget system basis, there is occasion for grave apprehension on the part of every loyal taxpayer in the country.

The warning has been received in Atlanta by Alex W. Smith, Georgia chairman of the national budget committee, from John T.
Pratt, national chairman, in the form of a telegram, stating that—"I have positive information that at republican caucus, February 28, an attempt will be made to go back to the old method of dividing appropriations among several committees. Many congressmen do not sincerely desire budget system."

Chairman Pratt admires Mr.
Smith, and, through him, every citizen of Georgia, that "now is the time to do real work . . . to prevent this national calamity"—reference very correctly being, of course, to the possible defeat, by congress, of the budget plan.

The chairman of the budget committee in the house, he declared,
"will stand firm" against the effort to head off this far-reaching, beneficial and progressive reform, but, he said in his wire, "he will overcome unless our committee members get solidly behind him."

Not only the committee members themselves, but every voter in the country who is weary of the old, archaic, unbusinesslike and unscientific, wasteful and extravagant, pork-barrel, haphazard fiscal system under which the government is now operating, should make it his own business to let the house chairman know that he, too, is "solidly behind" the forces that are and for so long have been trying to commit this government to the budget system principle.

After years and years of effort and education, the progressive sentiment in congress prevailed about a year ago, and a budget bill was carried through both houses, though against strong reactionary opposition.

However, while President Wilson is strongly in favor of the plan, he vetoed the bill on purely constitutional grounds, at the same time recommending that its technical defects be removed and that, thus perfected, it be re-enacted by the Senate.

It is Just Like This.
Q.—Will you kindly tell me whether cigar ash is injurious if swallowed? I like the salt or mineral taste and often when smoking put some of the ash on my tongue

ANS.—No, the craving perhaps indicates that your ordinary diet is deficient in lime, calcium, or vitamin. You might better satisfy that craving by including in your diet things which are rich in lime. Among other things, milk, cheese, nuts, entire wheat, raw cabbage (cold raw or salad), chocolate, or even powdered egg-shell.

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

New York, February 24.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: A new play called "Home Brew." Hope it doesn't blow up. Was a city detective who looked at me. I hope he didn't notice my name. He was a crime wave. Mitzi, the actress. Cute little trick. Colored collars to match the shirts are becoming popular again.

The boy the negro who is staring at us is the Emperor Jones" on Broadway makes the first crack and that it is not unusual for women to faint. There goes P. G. Wodehouse in a sashas coat. Wodehouse where the crowds that used to come to Knickerbocker for lunch go now.

Isn't it mean of the police to ride around in stolen cars? A line of men leaving an employment agency with a smitten look. I like to peek into the windows of the big avenue mansions. Big dignified houses. Soft sounding rugs and shiny lamps on the tables. I wonder if I could keep from getting familiar with a butler.

A rich man's club at dusk. Hard drinking widowers and crusty cell-brates. They dress for dinner, eat and pour all evening over a bridge game. I know two traffic cops now and like to show off spectacular to them. Police are one important. An auction window filled with red plush French furniture. Probably the relatives of strikers.

Pretty girls in knee high stocks and leather pants hurrying to the subway. The subtlety of the world is theirs. Cloak and suit carriers rushing home in their limousines. The haze of light from the electric signs is flooding the night sky.

Gas jets are flaring in boarding house basement dining rooms. The stray cats begin to creep out of the side streets as the odor of food fills the air. The great watch on a sleeping city is mobilizing. The gray clad private police who patrol New York's quiet streets. They say many have gone insane from loneliness. Now I can get across the street safely I'll be home.

When the newlyweds buy their first mansion the art dealers around

New York reap their harvest. The others making a killing with art deals.

When received a telephone call from a former miner who had struck it rich and decided to brighten up the drear corners of New York.

The waiters are as much in demand as the performers turned several jokes at their expense. Gest is very popular among theatrical folk.

Zona Gale and Zona Gray, novel-

New York recently. Before the evening was over people were calling them Zona Gale and Zona Gray.

There isn't anything very appetizing about the sign on a little Bowery lunchroom. It says: "Eat Here! Our Waiters Shave Every Day." The idea is, of course, that Bowery waiters are prone to go about with a two or three days' growth on their faces.

Special Bargain Price Prevails As Mercer and South Carolina Start Basketball a-Bouncing

By FUZZY WOODRUFF.

If the Atlanta Auditorium happens to be a department store and Al Doonan, director general of the Southern Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament, its advertising manager a bargain sale could be advertised for today, which would draw a crowd of sufficient proportions to liven the lives of half of the Atlanta citizens.

For a person who buys a ticket to the Mercer-South Carolina game, which starts at 2 o'clock, can, if provided with patience, a well filled dinner pail, and a cushion, remain for six hours and a half without a single price of admission. Remember people, seven dollars guaranteed a garrulous gladiatorial go-between eminent athletes gathered at enormous expense from the four corners of the Sun Belt and some South all for the price of one single admission. The line will form to the right and gentlemen will please not cover up.

Prices on the Level.

These special bargain prices are strictly on the level for the simple and sufficient reason that the promoters of the tournament can't afford to lose money. There being no known way of shooting a crown out of the hall, Mr. Doonan tactfully agreed to let the crowd in for the whole and, of course, included the concession.

Today of course will furnish the biggest bargain with seven games and the Georgia-Bama-By contest is bearing good with few battles carded and Monday can't be exactly overlooked with three games for one admission on the cards.

Advance guards of the visiting teams arrived yesterday, the first quartet to arrive being the dark horse representatives of Kentucky State. This outfit has been widely heralded in Atlanta principally because Mr. Edward Danforth was quoted from the portion of Kentucky to write pieces for public prints a few years back. Mr. Danforth has played an unusually canary influence on the character of his alma mater. He says that Kentucky is the dark horse, so he can chortle at the boys from the north, the bloodied ground in all needn't sacrifice his reputation as a prognosticator if the Kentuckians about him. He is laying the game pretty according to the program of Delphi, a wise cracker of whom he doubles heard while struggling through the classics at Lexington.

Kentucky is the last team to arrive from the land where the thoroughbreds come from and the stuff whose absence is too painful to mention, used to be scattered at the Antlers Hotel. They are opposed to Tulane at 3 o'clock this afternoon, in what will in all likelihood be the best battle of the day.

The Kentuckians have shown strength all season and so has the Olive of New Orleans and this scrap should be a humdinger. The other two are the Clemson outfit with its pink haired forward who made such a favorable impression on the popular white-haired Jameson in the Golden Tornado a few weeks back. Clemson enters Auburn tonight at 9 o'clock, though the two schools' athletics are picked to win, the contest is by no means one that can be decided by prognostication.

Of course, we left whatever Georgia Tech had as a basketball team is on the scene and ready to meet Birmingham-Southern in the final round of the competition. However with Bully Mayer horse de combat and Buck Flowers hors de examinations, the Golden Tornado is in desperate危急.

But conditions might be worse.

Joe Bean is plugging up the Tech line-up with Freshman talent and as far as the Texas Tech is concerned, it's marked yesterday "we might do worse by not using the freshmen team."

However, Bean expects to win the first contest handily whether it even meets another one.

Among other games scheduled for today are Furman and the Mississippi-Alabama-Birmingham-Birmingham. The former is bearing good with few battles carded and Monday can't be exactly overlooked with three games for one admission on the cards.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

With a punch in every act and not a dull moment from the time the first curtain goes up, Keith Vaudeville is flushed on the screen to the final curtain, B. F. Keith's Lyric theater, for the latter end of the week probably offers the best bill of entertainment that has been seen here this season.

Patricola, the "scintillating melodramatic humorist," presents two girls in a "topical song review," share honors, both winning tremendous applause and taking several encores. Patricola offers one of best programs of popular song favorites ever heard by a delighted audience, and Misses Hamilton and Bucher made a distinct hit with their singing.

Harry Van Fossen, blackface comedian, was top-notch in his line.

Misses Shand and Shand from the usual form of trick bicycile act to the extent of singing several pretty numbers while engaged in the performance.

The Love Light, Burns and Torrence, in "The Awakening of the Tops," chose with a novelty turn a bill that won undivided approval from full audiences Thursday.

LOWE VAUDEVILLE.

(At the Grand.)

"School days" act that differs diametrically from the ordinary run, the week-end program offered at the Grand theater.

"Nine O'Clock" is the title of the piece, which presents half dozen or more of whom one of them is the last-named cast as a country school teacher whose adventures involve the rural education of boys and girls.

One of the distinctive touches of the bill is the hit registered by the opening act, Leon and Mitzl. This without question one of the most remarkable equilibrist who ever graced Atlanta audience.

Other features include Edna Delbridge, the "Gingerbread" soubrette-plate couple, who are entertaining in vocal numbers, dances and pantomime.

Misses Shand and Shand, figure in an animal and flight act, and Clayton and Robinson, who impersonates a volatile Italian and typical American girl.

W. Cody is at his best in "Occasionally Yours," the screen headliner.

IF I WERE KING.

(At the Howard.)

William Farnum, playing the star role in the stage production of Justin Huntley McCarthy's famous romance, "If I Were King," surprised Atlantans with the wonder of a new and wonderful tale of the mad king of France, and Francis Villon, the vagabond poet of the era.

"If I Were King," is one of the big pictures of the year. So tremendous has been its success that it has been commented on editorially by many newspapers. The "Sunday Press" in its edition of the picture declared it should be seen by every man and woman in Savannah.

Interest for all this praise was evident to Thursday's audience at the Howard, for they say in "If I Were King," a picture that reaches a high standard of achievement. It is Farnum, playing the reckless, swashbuckling Villon, a figure that stands out long after the picture is over.

Mrs. Lois Patterson's song, "A Fine Day," is one of the most charming numbers on the new program, and Miss Dorothy Keeling again makes a hit in her Spanish dance.

"Passion."

(At the Criterion.)

"Passion," with Pola Negri in the leading role, in the Criterion theater this week, is about as interesting a film as has come this way in a long time. Its method of telling the story and its character study of Madame Dubarry is wonderful.

It is a film seen in which the characters are Choucas, the brothers DuBarry, Armand, Pailet and Lebel.

All might be alive again in these impersonations. Stand out in these things in the presentation of "Rip Van Winkle" by Miss Marjette.

It is a picture that is to be taken upon the stage.

Believe it or not as you desire, but let it be recorded that the puppets have been arranged that they have never been more convincingly presented than by the Rip Doll in his awakening scene.

THE GUMPS—OLD KNOW-IT-ALL

Body of War Hero,
Formerly of Gordon,
Buried With Honors

Captain Clifford West Henry, wearer of the congressional medal of honor and croix de guerre with palm, who was killed in action with the 103d infantry, was buried Sunday at his home at Bronx, Bronx, N.Y., which-select William T. Manning, of New York, read the service in St. Agnes chapel.

While training at Camp Gordon with the 46th infantry, Captain Henry made many friends in this city. He was killed by shellfire with 50 of his men on September 14, 1918. Captain Henry was 22 years old at the time of his death. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin W. Henry, of Sound Beach, N.Y., and was a junior at Harvard when he enlisted.

Bond Rehearing Denied.

Montgomery, Ala., February 24.—The Alabama supreme court today refused to grant a rehearing of the twenty-five million-dollar good roads bond issue which had formerly been declared illegally submitted as a constitutional amendment and, therefore, voided.

Eighty tons of marmalade brought by fishing boats from Lower California waters were offered free at Los Angeles to any one who would carry them away. The fishermen found the market overstocked and therefore paid $2,209 tax to the Mexican government on the catch.

Collier Road Lot

500 Feet Off Peachtree Road

We are authorized to offer some unusually desirable residence lots on Collier Road, just west of Peachtree Road. These lots are shaded, and have southern exposure. All city improvements except gas are available. We have a limited number of lots with average frontage of 90 feet that we can sell for $50 per front foot. We do not know of any more desirable building lots in the Peachtree section than these.
